

Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine Fellowship Mission Statement & AIMS

Mission Statement:

The Neonatal-Perinatal Fellowship program strives to successfully train future academic neonatologists by fostering the ability to provide a broad clinical experience with a focus in regional care and family-centered care, with excellent research mentorship, specifically in clinical research and quality improvement research. We hold trainees accountable to standards of excellence, entrusting each individual with increasing autonomy only when she or he demonstrates competence and ownership.

Aims:

- Advance clinical knowledge and skills of fellows to produce competent, productive attending neonatologists
- Promote leadership in providing high value, equitable, family-centered care
- Develop academic and research capabilities to support a productive career in academic medicine
